Ye Brinkley Ghost.

The Avalanche reporters have got up a sensational ghost story for the credulous, and Memphis are said to be greatly interested; still, our other Bluff City exchanges discredit the whole affair. According to the Avalanche's story, a little daughter of a lawyer named Robertson, who is well and favorably known in Hardeman, while attending school at the Brinkley College, was annoyed by the presence of a ghost, and from the strange and unearthly visitor was informed that if she would dig in a certain location on the college grounds, she would find near an old stump a hidden jar, which was said to contain a quantity of coin and most valuable papers concerning the true titles to property. Miss Clara Robertson told her story to parents and friends. A search was made for the mysterious jar, and after a long search and tremendous excitement, a brick arch was found, and under that a glass jar, of the size usually used by confectioners—in other words, a common candy jar—which contains, according to the Avalanche's report, small bags and a large yellow envelope. Clara, true to the injunction of the ghost, "spaded" for the "long sought" herself, and while doing so fell senseless to the ground, and was removed by her friends and promptly restored to consciousness. She declared that the traveler from "that bourne from whence no one returns" said to her in plain English that the jar must not be opened until sixty years had risen and set, and so the story ends. It is also claimed that Mr. Joseph R. Robertson, the father, and Clara, the daughter, have the jar in their possession, or know where it is, and that at the end of the sixty days it will be opened, and its contents made known.

One thing to our mind is clear: either the Avalanche has published for the truth a down right falsehood or a strange and unaccountable revelation has been made by a departed soul to an innocent and harmless child. If the subject is worthy of further attention, we will place all the facts before our readers. Until then we will rest content, and let "the ghost that made a keno" slide.

Riot in Meridian.

Last Tuesday, during the trial of three negroes before Justice Bramlette for riotous conduct, one of the prisoners named Finley, alias Tyler, shot and instantly killed Justice Bramlette. Indiscriminate firing ensued, and two negroes were killed in the courtroom. The negro who killed Bramlette jumped from the window of the second story but was pursued and shot dead by the sheriff and posse. Citizens assembled in large numbers, and with arms to assist. Officers and Sheriff commanded them to disarm the negroes. In the execution of this order several negroes were killed by the Sheriff and posse during the night. Total killed as far as known, is seven—six negroes and Judge Bramlette. Mayor William Sturgiss, on his own request, after tendering his resignation, was given safe conduct to the city by citizens on pledge to go North and never return.

The fire which occurred on Saturday night destroyed property to the amount of seventy-five thousand dollars. The negro was being tried as the incendiary when they rose in court and shot Judge Bramlette. Another fire occurred, destroying the church and other buildings.

A Skating Incident.

A Young Lady Rescues her Lover.

Lake Champlain is one of the most beautiful sheets of water probably in America, and Cumberland Bay, near Plattsburg, where one of the most brilliant naval engagements of the war of 1812 was fought and won by Commodore McDonough, of the American fleet, against the British, under Commodore Downie, furnishes one of the grandest skating park or ponds one could wish to see. It is the favorite resort of the young ladies and gentlemen of that vicinity on moonlight evenings. One evening a short time since a young lady and gentlemen who had frequently been skating there before, went out upon the bay, but believing in the old axiom that "two is company," went to an unfrequented spot, where they could enjoy the skating in each other's society unmolested.

After skating for some little time near the shore, the gentleman proposed that they should go further out where the ice was smoother, to which she consented, and they accordingly ventured out about two miles. Here they found the ice in beautiful condition, and the gentleman was proceeding to do the grapevine, forward and backward roll, together with many other fancy figures only known to accomplished skaters, when suddenly the ice gave way beneath him, and in a moment he found himself struggling in the water and unable to extricate himself, the ice breaking as fast as he attempted to raise himself on its edge. The young lady, true to her womanly instincts, began to scream at the top of her voice, but the privacy they had sought had taken them beyond the hearing of all who could have been of any service to them. He besought her to go to the shore and endeavor to procure assistance; but she well knew he must perish before she could get back, even if she found no difficulty in procuring assistance. Then an idea came into her head, and she immediately put it into execution.

She first took off her jacket and dress, and tying them together, undertook to reach him with one end; but it was too short, as the yielding ice warned her when she moved toward him and endeavored to throw him one end. What more could she do? She hesitated a moment; then slipping off her gaiters, both stockings were soon tied to the end of the dress and jacket, and yet it was too short. Meantime the young man was rapidly becoming exhausted, and if she was to save him no time was to be lost. For a moment her hands disappeared in the drapery about her waist, and then something fell on the ice about her feet. It was her hoop-skirt. This was quickly severed into half a dozen pieces, and added to the jacket, dress, and stockings, and, to her great delight, this made the line long enough to reach him.

Bravely she tugged at one end of it, while he clutched the other end with the grip of a man who knew that that was all which stood between him and eternity. In a few minutes she landed him safely on the solid ice, and then the red jacket and dress were wrapped about her as best they could be, and the two started for home, where they arrived without being noticed by any one. Few were the words spoken on the journey home, but they must have been to the purpose, as the wedding suits are ordered, and before the ice shall disappear from the beautiful lake, this spring, they will be married.

IN MEMORIA.

Died, on the morning of the 25th of February, in the sixty-first year of her age, Mrs. MARTHA WINN SWANN, wife of Col. HENRY SWANN, formerly Editor of the Jackson Whip.

Thus a devoted wife, a fond and affectionate mother, a kind and generous friend, has passed away. At the early age of fourteen she connected herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and for forty-seven years was a faithful follower of the meek and lowly Savior. While we mourn her loss on earth, she is

"Away up in Heaven,
Sitting at the feet of Jesus."

Ah! then, fond friends, do not repine
That she has left you here;
She hath exchanged a dreary world
For yon pure, cloudless sphere.

She walked the path which God had marked
For sinful man to tread,
And now she'll wear the glittering crown
Of glory round her head.

For mark—when stern, cold death did come,
And bade her haste away,
She closed her eyes and welcomed him—
She felt Hope's cheering ray.

God kindly called her spirit home,
And ended her of her pain;
Then why repine? she served her God,
She's called to reap her gain.

AMICUS.

Bolivar, March 8, 1871.

Died, of pleuro pneumonia, at 8 o'clock P. M. on the 28th of February, 1871, LOU ELLA, daughter of SAMUEL and MARY ANN McALEXANDER, aged 11 months and 16 days.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no patent medicine humbug, gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, but is a perfect specific for nasal catarrh, "cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., offers $500 for a case he cannot cure. Sold by druggists or sent by mail for sixty cents. A pamphlet free.

Cheering Facts for the Bilious.

Every day demonstrates more clearly that liver complaint, in all its distressing forms, can be controlled and cured without difficulty or inconvenience. It is an obstinate disease, but its obstinacy is not proof against the pertinacious, remedial and restorative operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That genial corrective compels the organ to do its duty. It must secrete regularly and healthfully under the influence of the Bitters. Their action brings it back from a state of rebellion into perfect harmony with the laws of health. If there is costiveness, it disappears; if there is side ache or backache, it ceases; if the skin and the whites of the eyes are tinged with superfluous bile, they recover their natural hue; if the appetite is gone, it returns; if the digestion is impaired, it is restored; in brief, whatever the symptoms of the complaint may be, and whatever the phase it has assumed, a cure is certain. Such are the uniform effects of this preparation where bilious disease has taken its already developed; but in cases where there is merely a constitutional tendency to the liver complaint, it may be prevented throughout life by the regular use, in small quantities, of this palatable antidote. These are proven facts, and should be seriously pondered—or, rather, they should be promptly acted upon—by all persons of bilious habit.

To the Citizens of Bell County.

The undersigned avails himself of this mode of contradicting the report which is extensively circulated, to the effect that I am a "secret candidate" for the office of County Court Clerk. Such report is utterly false. When I desire to run for said office, I had at one time made up my mind to run for that office; but for reasons unnecessary to mention, have positively decided, and I want it expressly understood that I am not now, nor do I intend to be, a candidate for any position whatever, nor am I committed to any person or persons in the present campaign. Said report is a baseless and a selfish motive, and rests upon no foundation whatever, and I desire certain.
